Wishing our Ogden family a Magical Holiday Season!

By Joseph Isador, Editor, Street Ogden Magazine

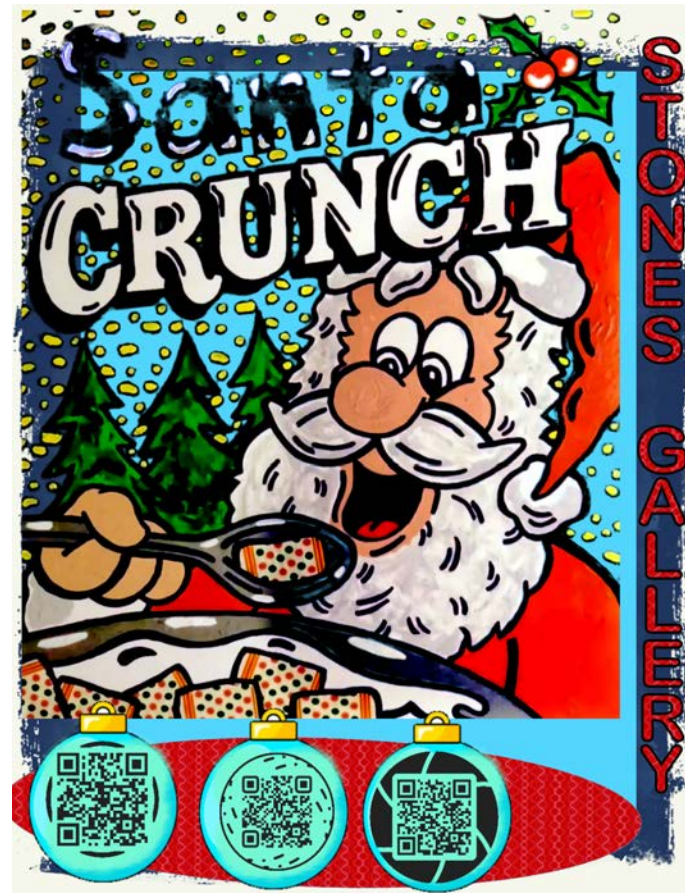

What a joy it is to celebrate this season with you. This edition marks Street Ogden's third annual Holiday Guide, and we couldn't be more grateful for the opportunity to join you — both in spirit and at our favorite events across Weber County. There's a special sense of gratitude and togetherness found especially during this time of year, and I've wholeheartedly felt this magic deepened through the community that has been so carefully fostered by this incredible Ogden family.

In this issue, we're delighted to bring you images of Ogden's winter splendor from past seasons, along with guides to our favorite local stores and events. You'll find us at some of our favorite stops, from The Nutcracker at Peery's Egyptian Theater to Ogden's Christmas Village. Finally, when it's time to find that perfect gift for your loved one, never forget to SHOP LOCAL FIRST!

After the season ends, you'll still find STREET OGDEN MAGAZINE at over 150 outlets across Weber County. You can also read the current and past issues of Street Ogden magazine on our website, streetogden.com. If you have ideas or want to contribute, contact us at streetogden@gmail.com. We would love to hear from you!

However you choose to celebrate this season, we hope you feel warmth from the holiday spirit and the welcome from your Ogden neighbors.

From our Street Ogden family to yours,
Have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year

History of Christmas VILLAGE in Ogden

In December of 1961, Jerry and Maxine Green stood outside with their 5-year-old son, Tommy, waiting for the big Christmas parade. It was cold, as Decembers in Utah often were, but the three had found the perfect spot to wait, warmed by their anticipation. They were eager to take part in Ogden's yearly tradition that marked the start of the holiday season.

At last, the parade began with a chorus of screaming police sirens. Their Doppler-effect wail from Ogden's cherished police force gave way to a big flatbed truck sporting a waving Santa Claus, followed by the abrupt end of the Christmas parade. Tommy's disappointment was evident, as most 5 year old's emotions often were, and Jerry Green knew something had to be done.

On November 23, 1962 the very first Christmas Village opened Ogden's holiday season. Utah Power & Light, Ogden's merchants and residents, and countless volunteers rallied behind Green's vision. They pledged time, materials, electricity, and effort into the village's construction.

Through the 1970s and '80s, the event evolved, and often through heated, though festive, debates. In 1983, the Ogden City Christmas Village Advisory Committee was created. Their first meeting was held on Tuesday, September 27, led by Chairman Covio and Vice-Chair Lisa Hult. They wanted to promote the Christmas Village through celebrating the lighting of the village. They suggested having local community groups perform and having the Mayor throw the switch to light the village. The Committee also recommended the traditional Christmas parade be held later in the afternoon so the lighting of the village could be coordinated with the parade. That year, the parade ended on 25th Street with a ribbon cutting ceremony, bands and choirs, and the lighting of the Christmas Village.

In 2002, Jo Packham, was appointed by Mayor Godfrey to be a new chairperson in the Christmas Village Advisory Committee. Ms. Packham is a local business owner and the past president of the Historic 25 Association. She was able to get numerous businesses involved in the Christmas Village spirit, resulting in refurbished cottages and new cottages alike. From her efforts and others, the quality of the village improved tremendously. Each year, Ogden's Christmas Village has consistently added new cottages and new sponsors, making this tradition better and better.

Our wish is that you and your families make this a wonderful part of your Christmas traditions. We'll see you there!

MAYOR OF CHRISTMAS VILLAGE 2025 CAROLINE BRIERLEY

Caroline Brierley has been selected as the Honorary Mayor of Ogden's Christmas Village for 2025. She continues to be involved with Christmas Village by designing and maintaining the 'Nutcracker' cottage each year.

Christmas Village Committee and Ogden City are grateful to honor Carolyn for her leadership, her legacy of service and deep love for her community.

Carolyn responded to the honor on her social media saying, "I am so honored to be selected as the honorary Mayor of Christmas Village and have November 29, 2025 named as Carolyn Brierley Day! Thank you to the City Council, Mayor, the volunteer Christmas Village Committee that works hard all year to make sure things are always perfect, and a huge shout out to the Parks Department for their awesome work creating the beautiful desintaion in the heart of Ogden for thousands of visitors each year."

A letter from Santa to my Ogden friends

Greetings from the North Pole! That's right, Santa himself is writing to you by email. (Can you believe it?! I guess you really can teach an old Claus new tricks). Mrs. Claus has been teaching me all about this "digital age." She says next year you might even be able to text me! I'm not sure about that, though. After all, there's nothing like a crayon-coated letter to warm an old Kringle's heart.

Speaking of Christmas letters, the wishes have gotten trickier, too! We've brought in some bright, young, digital expert elves to handle all of the new tech: drones, tablets, electric scooters, robot dogs, and who knows what else! I don't always understand it, but they seem to be doing a great job. Still, I miss the days when a simple wooden train or rag doll was our specialty. Don't worry, though, we still make those, crafted with more love and Christmas magic than ever before.

The Reindeer and I sure look forward to visiting your great town of Ogden. It's always a thrill flying over your Wasatch Mountains, and the lights from the Christmas Village shine so bright that Rudolph gets to take a break! But most of all, you folks make the best dang treats. Oh, Ogden. Nobody bakes like you do. I love your pioneer muffins and cookies. I swear I can barely fit back up the chimney afterward! But please, less snickerdoodles. They give old St. Nick a tummy ache. Your oatmeal raisins are much better for an old man's system if you know what I mean.

But listen here, my little digital natives. Don't think your fancy apps can hide your shenanigans from good ol' Father Christmas. My elves are some of the greatest digital detectives and you'd better believe I'll be checking that Nice List Network twice! Even so... Ogden, you've got some pretty incredible kids. The spirit of kindness, community, and giving that shines through your streets warms my old heart more and more each year. And for those who slipped up a bit this season, don't you worry! There's always opportunities to make things right.

WHAT SHOULD I GET THEM?

SEARCH FOR THE PERFECT GIFTS!

By Amber Shelton

We've all been there. Christmas is just around the corner. There's no space left under the tree. You're only missing that one gift for that one person. Never fear! Ogden has everything any gift giver could need!

For when you find out that one person did, in fact, get you something

I always like to keep a spare present on hand in case of this very situation! A small 5x7 of the Utah mountains from any of our local artists would do just the trick. Gallery 25 is a great place to begin collecting local art pieces, but nearly any local shop sells local artist's cards that can easily be turned into a framed piece as well. I like to thrift frames for my prints to save costs and our local thrift stores seem to always have just the size I need.

Artisan goods are also a fantastic option. Honey from local beekeepers, a box of Beehive Cheese, a set of tea from Wild Meraki, or a sampler set of oils and vinegars from The Hearth on 25th have been my signature catch-all gifts.

You can never go wrong with a 2026 Calendar from one of your favorite artists. Calendars from Erica Lyon and Lynette Nichols have been some of my go-tos in the past.

Speaking of Erica, her box of National Park Cards could be a great gift for your friend who likes to travel.

The Jungle Room Plant Co has a lovely selection of houseplants. Plants are the best kept secret of gifting for any occasion. Start with a spider plant or a few House Leeks. Over time, these plants will have more babies than you can handle! Thrift some pots and re-plant the new sprouts as they come. Suddenly, you'll have an infinite supply of adorable house plants that can be re-gifted to friends and family. Just don't forget to tie a festive ribbon around the pot!

Finally, I always try to keep some stickers or Christmas cards from local artists on hand. They're great to give to neighbors, coworkers, and friends!

For the person who already has everything

In my humble opinion, this is the perfect opportunity to buy experiences instead of gifts.

I am a foodie at heart and I'm already dropping hints to my friends and family that I want a Taste of Ogden tour from OTown Food Tours this year. I've also gifted 25th Street History tours in the past that have been well-loved.

Tickets to Wiseguys Comedy Club, Peery's Egyptian Theater, Onstage Ogden, or Ziegfeld Theater are sure to provide memorable experiences to any recipient! A gift card to the Lab Arcade Bar or any of our local fun centers are always a perfect option.

I love finding classes to take with friends. Gifting a class to do together would be a wonderful Christmas gift! The Local Artisan Collective has regular art classes covering a ton of different mediums. The new Marshall White Center has classes for a wide range of hobbies from cooking to dance to pottery to art. The Kids Patch has wonderful classes of all kinds for any subject. North Ogden Yoga and My Mind & Body Collective have Class Pass sets for the treasured Yogi in your life. The Eccle's Art Center is an amazing place to take classes as well. Art Box Ogden and The Wick Lab both have candle making classes that I have absolutely loved.

I'd like a "Gift that keeps on giving all year long"

Tis the Season for Season Passes! The Treehouse Museum and many local fun centers offer yearly passes and December is the perfect time to buy them for the upcoming year.

A kid's subscription box from RhymeTime Creations or adult crafting subscription box from Country Craft Creations are cornerstone gifts for craft lovers of any age.

Tagge's Famous Fruit CSA boxes typically go on sale in the spring but a locally-made card with an IOU should do the trick to gift this one! I have always planned to give my kids a CSA subscription once they're old enough to go to college. That might ensure they eat more than just ramen through their Freshman year!

What should I bring to that Christmas party?

This, of course, might depend on your food assignment.

If you're on the hook for a good dessert, a box of goodies from Savori Italian Bakery has never steered me wrong. This has been my best resource for incredible, diverse, and eye-catching baked goods that are loved by everyone.

If you're looking for drinks, Purple Sky Winery and 25th Street Mercantile are great spots for delicious, local wines. 25th Street Mercantile even has non-alcoholic options!

Speaking of 25th Street Mercantile, I'm planning to bring one of their Charcuterie boards to one of my local family dinners. I might even pick up a charcuterie board from the artist Levi Art Studios while I'm there. It would be the perfect gift for my in laws.

Where should I look to surprise the kids in my life?

My favorite gifts are the ones I give to my children. There's nothing more special than watching their eyes light up on Christmas morning.

Art Box at the Monarch has a lovely little children's section with the most adorable gifts. I found a darling set of books there that I gifted my nieces and nephews just a few years back. This year I'll be getting each of them craft kits from RhymeTime Creations (don't tell)!

Truthfully, I tend to thrift many of my children's presents each year. Neighbor's Thrift and Mariposa are on my list of places to go this season for my holiday shopping.

For the older kids in my life, I've always loved gifting day passes to Skinny Dogs, Toad's Fun Zone, or the Rush Funplex.

What about my friend with a hyper-specific hobby?

Try The Romantics Archive or Underground Books for the book lover in your life, Lavendar Vinyl for the music lover, and Heebeegeebeez for comic books, board games, and minifigures.

The Dreaded White Elephant

Try a "Blind Date with a Book" gift from Romantic's Archive, a cute knick knock from Rainbow Gardens Gift Store or literally anything from Ogden Made.

WHY SHOP LOCAL

Why Shop Local and Why it Still Matters

By the Street Ogden Team. Here at Street Ogden, our motto is proudly "Shop Local First."

Shopping local is one of the best ways to boost the local economy, encourage employment opportunities for ourselves and our neighbors, and reduce our carbon footprint. Personally, our biggest inspiration for supporting local businesses is to foster a unified, cooperative community.

We shop local to create communities that are more prosperous, connected, and generous. When we buy from independent, locally owned businesses, rather than national chains, 52% of the resulting revenue continues circulating locally (compared to 13.6% for national chains). These businesses are a vital cornerstone to keeping our community employed. They are responsible for roughly two out of every three new jobs in the United States, adding more than 5.1 million new jobs to our economy since 2003. Buying locally supports a stable job market in Ogden and more opportunities for our residents to work within the community.

We support local to help our neighbors and the most vulnerable members of our community. These local businesses show up when it counts. In one study, 91% of the local owners surveyed reported donating money or time to schools, nonprofits, and community groups. These small shops gave 24 times more to local charities than a national chain competitor.

We eat local to make the most of our food and funds. Local produce is often picked within 24 hours of being sold. This freshness means locally grown produce tastes better, lasts longer, and has more nutrients compared to its supermarket counterparts. Since these fruits and veggies don't need to withstand long transit times, our farmers can let the crops ripen fully in the field, picking them at their peak of flavor and nutritional value. This also minimizes the nutrient loss that begins to occur as soon as the produce is picked.

As for funds, local restaurants are the best at regional revenue recirculation (Say that three times fast)! Nearly 79% of their revenue stays in the community, compared with 30% for national chains.

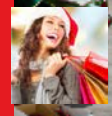

With so much riding on these holiday decisions, it can feel overwhelming to try to change so many of our holiday shopping routines all at once, but a little goes a long way. A study of the Salt Lake metro area found that if residents moved just one in ten purchases from chains to local businesses, it would keep hundreds of millions of dollars in the regional economy every year.

For Ogden, that kind of shift means more open signs on 25th Street, more restaurants, better-funded public services, and a thriving network of charities.

This December, we encourage our fellow Ogden community to join us in lifting where we stand: buying one extra gift from a downtown shop, booking our holiday dinners at locally owned restaurants, and picking out Christmas décor from Ogden's talented network of local artists.

We believe that where we shop this holiday season will quietly shape what our city looks like next year, and these small but meaningful choices will preserve Ogden's status as the vibrant, welcoming hometown that make us proud to call ourselves residents.
